J. P. Morgan Dies At Rome, Italy

Rome, March 31.—J. Pierpont Morgan, the American financier, died at five minutes past twelve o'clock, noon, today (6:05 New York time.)

When the death of Mr. Morgan was seen to be approaching rapidly, Prof. Bastianelli and Dr. Dixon, forced Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee, his son-in-law and daughter, and Miss Helen Hamilton, who had been in constant attendance to leave the room. Mr. Morgan toward the end showed that he was suffering internally only by a movement of his right hand. Otherwise he displayed no sign of vitality except by continuous heavy breathing.

Frequent bulletins were issued during the morning, showing that his condition was gradually becoming worse and by 11 o'clock the physicians had given up all hope. Mr. Morgan was unable to assimilate the artificial nourishment administered during the morning and his physical weakness was extreme. Heart tonics were injected but these had no effect and for several hours before his death he was in a state of coma, unable to respond to any questions or to recognize any of those at his bedside.

One of his relatives, Mrs. Fitzsimons, arrived from Cannes and was shown into the death chamber, but her presence remained unknown to the dying man.

HIGH WATER ALONG THE OHIO

Washington, April 1.—The following special flood bulletin was issued by the weather bureau Monday night:

The crest of the Ohio river flood has about reached Cincinnati with a stage at 7 p. m. Monday of 69.5 feet, 1.5 feet above flood stage. While the river may rise a few tenths of a foot more, it will not quite reach 70 feet.

At Louisville the stage at 7 p. m. Monday was 44.2 feet above flood stage. A crest stage of 45 feet is expected Tuesday night or Wednesday morning.

At Evansville, the stage at 3 p. m. Monday was 45.7; scant 10.7 feet above flood stage. It is expected that the river at Evansville and Henderson will crest between 47 and 48 feet, but at Mount Vernon the crest will probably reach 50 feet. Brisk west winds are causing rough water in the neighborhood of Evansville.

At Cairo the stage at 7 p. m. Monday was 57.6 feet, 7.6 feet above flood stage. There is some indication that Any erroneous reflection on the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of The News will be gladly corrected upon its being brought to the attention of the management.

By common consent April 1 is set apart as All Fools day. If the number coming under that head is to be considered about a week should be dedicated to them.

There are plenty of rich men in the country who would be able to keep up the social prestige of American embassies abroad, and there is no lack of men with ability necessary to properly uphold the interests of this nation, but President Wilson seems to be having a deuce of a time in finding men who possess both essentials.

J. P. Morgan, the world's greatest wizard of finance, is dead. His career reads like a romance in the Arabian Nights, or like the story of King Midas who turned everything he touched into gold. Morgan was a prodigious worker and possessed the confidence of his fellows to a remarkable degree. This was as strong an asset as his money, for it enabled him to command a following more powerful than had ever been seen in the history of the world. However, now that he is gone the world will move along just about as usual, for others will be ready to step into his shoes and handle the big propositions he launched in his lifetime.

Ada Cemetery Association.
The News desires to commend the effort being made by the ladies of Ada to organize a cemetery association with the object of bettering the conditions in Rosedale cemetery. The most imperative need is water with which to irrigate the shrubs and flowers planted there. Also, a substantial fence is needed to keep stragglers from destroying what is planted and possibly overturning and breaking some of the tombstones. Respect for the dead and a proper care of their last resting places is a mark of civilization. We cannot call back the departed ones, but to keep them in remembrance is a duty we owe and should be paid most cheerfully. The ladies have arranged with the management of the De Sota theatre for two shows Friday afternoon and evening for the purpose of raising funds to be devoted to the purposes above set forth, and it is to be hoped that the ladies will meet the hearty response their efforts entitle them to.

Doctors Use This for Eczema

Dr. Evans, Ex-Commissioner of Health, says: "There is almost no relation between skin diseases and the blood." The skin must be cured through the skin. The germs have long ago been found worthless. The most advanced physicians of this country are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of wintergreen, thymol and other ingredients for eczema and all other skin diseases. This compound is known as D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema.

Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist writes: "I am convinced that the D.D.D. Prescription is as much a specific for eczema as quinine for malaria. I have been prescribing the D.D.D. remedy for years." It will take away the itch the instant you apply it.

In fact, we are so sure of what D.D.D. will do for you that we will be glad to let you have a $1 bottle on our guarantee that it will cost you nothing unless you find that it does the work.

PLAGUE OF SPARROWS

FEATHERED ROGUES AT HOME ON PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE.

In the Early Evening Every Bird Seems to Be Charging That the Other Fellow Has Got His Bed or Perch.

When the winter sun is red low over the Arlington hills a great many persons passing along the north side of Pennsylvania avenue between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets crane their necks to look up in the young plane trees growing there. They have caught the sound of a furious fuss and feathers and the quarrelsome and garrulous chatter and clatter of a thousand sparrows. The sparrows are making ready for their night's rest and evidently are debating as to which twigs they will occupy. Every bird seems to be charging that the other fellow has got his bed, or perch. There is a good deal of hopping to and fro, fluttering hither and thither and general confusion. It cannot be that the birds are wishing each other good night and happy dreams. They cannot even be saying their evening prayers. Their tones of voice indicate the contrary. They seem to be saying something like: "Get off the twig, curses on you, or I will throw you into the street below. Here I have been hustling around the streets all day grubbing for an oat here and a crumb of stale bread there, and coming home for rest I find some scurvy sparrow on the branch I reserved last night."

"Why," chatters another sparrow. "I've been sleeping on that twig every night for the last week, and you, avian rat, want to jump my claim. I'll quarrel about it till the sun goes down and I'll keep the whole roost awake before I give up to you."

And so it goes till the sun has gone down behind the Arlington hills and the great lights and the garish cigarette and strong drink signs glow along the avenue.

A man looking up in the trees at night will see hundreds of little feathered balls, all motionless. They are sparrows rolled up in their gray and brown clothes. Not a sound comes from the tree, unless it be the winter wind singing weirdly through the dry branches, until some green and gray rose light begins to come into the sky above the Anacostia hills. Then the twittering and hopping and shaking and airing of feather beds begins. All the birds are talking, but in a better humor than the night before. They seem to be saying, "How did you sleep last night?" "How bright you are looking?" "Where are you going for breakfast?" "Will we have cereal for breakfast?" asks one bird, and another answers, "We will if we can find it."

One little bird is saying: "Did the noise of the avenue cars keep you awake last night?" and another answers: "No, but the theater crowds passing under this tree near midnight made me flutter once or twice."

Then a little gray lady sparrow says to a gallant gentleman sparrow with a gray coat and a brown vest: "Oh dear, but I had a horrid nightmare last night. I dreamed of cats and I was powerless to fly!"

Gradually the birds drop down into the avenue and begin skirmishing for breakfast.

Between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets there are nine plane trees on the north side of the avenue. The third, fourth and seventh trees counting from the east are the popular trees, for some reason which only the birds could tell, but because of the crowded condition of those trees there is some overflow reaching into the first tree and into the east side branches of the eighth. It seems a noisy place for birds to select as a rest or a roost, but the Rambler assumes that the sparrows know what they want in the way of lodgings better than he does.

Hits at Dissipation.
Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, recently promulgated an order throughout the military service requiring that all officers and enlisted men who "shall be absent from duty on account of disease resulting from his own intemperate use of drugs or alcoholic liquors or other misconduct" shall forfeit his pay for the period during which he is unable to perform his regular duties. This order is in accordance with legislation in the army appropriation bill of this year. It is in line with the efforts of the war department, and especially of the surgeon general, to reduce the amount of dissipation in the army.

Big Sum Needed for Inquiry.
It will cost the government $20,000 to investigate the condition of the Crow Indians in Montana, as proposed in a resolution adopted by the senate a few days ago, authorizing the department of justice to make the inquiry. Attorney General Wickersham has informed those urging the investigation that his department is without funds for the work and that it cannot be undertaken unless congress makes an allowance of at least $20,000.

Interest in Progressive Caucus.

Washington, D. C., April 1.—The old timers about the Capitol are attaching considerable importance to the caucus which the Progressives of the House will hold tomorrow for the purpose of organization. Not that the caucus itself will be of any very great importance, but it comes as forcible reminder that there will be three separate and distinct political parties represented in the congress about to assemble. This fact in itself is almost without precedent unless the presence of Victor Berger as the lone representative of the Socialist party in the last Congress be taken as a precedent.

The Progressives are not of the brand to sit quietly in the background as Representative Berger was forced to do. Their exact numerical strength cannot be foretold with certainty but it is practically certain they will be numerous enough to make considerable noise before the close of the session.

Representative Linebaugh of Illinois, who took the initiative in calling the caucus, believes that at least a score of members will attend the meeting, though others are of the opinion that the number will figure about a dozen. The program is to name Victor Murdock of Kansas for the Speakership, which is equivalent to the election of Mr. Murdock as the Progressive leader of the House. With the completion of a regular organization the Progressives will be in a position to demand minority representation on all committees and a division in the time of the floor of the House.

Hoarded Gold in India.

Few people realize the extent to which gold is hoarded in India or the strange uses to which it is put.

The bulk of hoarded wealth in India is buried, so that at the present time nearly all the gold dug from the earth in South Africa is by a fresh digging operation deposited again beneath the soil in South Asia. It seems particularly assured that the total imports of gold to India during 1912 are not only a fresh record, but will attain a total of not less than $139,400,000, or 28 per cent of the world's output. Consumption of gold does not imply in the United States or England the actual swallowing of extremely thin gold leaves for medicinal purposes, but it is so taken in parts of India. A frequent form of piety is to regild the domes of religious buildings, and such operation can easily absorb $50,000 or more. Sovereigns with a shield on the obverse are in constant request, and an inquiry as to the ultimate use of certain shipments of some thousands of pounds in English money revealed the curious fact that a rajah of roccoco tastes had imported them to form a center to each minute pane in the windows of his palace.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Another Blow to Woman's Weapon.
Milwaukee, Wis., April 1.—Milwaukee's ordinance prohibiting women from wearing hats of such length as to be a menace to other persons went into effect today. The ordinance specifies that the hats must be of moderate length and provides a penalty of a $1 fine or three days in jail for violations of the law.

Ada Country Club

Planning Improvements

The Ada country club is taking on new life with the coming of spring. It is planned to erect a three room house at the reservoir immediately and fix things up for the comfort of club members and their families. Two rooms of the house will be occupied by a keeper and the other reserved for the use of the club. The improvements to be made during the coming season will be extensive and will make the club grounds the most attractive to be found in this part of the state.

Fifth Sunday Meeting

At Pontotoc

Rev. C. Stubblefield, Miss McMillan, the pastor's assistant, Mrs. J. D. Rindard and the driver made an overland journey Friday to Pontotoc where we attended the Fifth Sunday meeting of the Baptist church. The roads were far from good and when the steep hills were reached it would become necessary for the driver to get out and walk.

The meeting was a great success, and the good people of Pontotoc treated us most royally. Pontotoc is a thriving village of 200 or 300 inhabitants. Guest Bros. of Ada have a good store there and are doing well. The church under the pastorate of Rev. J. M. Vernon is growing in numbers and influence. THE DRIVTR.

Sins of the Father.

Tommy came home from school very morose.
"Well, my son," observed his father cheerfully, "how did you get on at school today?"
Johnny said that he had been whipped and kept in.
"It was because you told me the wrong answer," he added. "Last night I asked you how much was a million dollars, and you said it was a hell of a lot. That isn't the right answer."

"The Winning Hand"

The mere description of this Western portrayal seems impossible. When we see this picture it is convincing and logical. A young sheriff bound, with his hands tied behind his back. He lifts a burning candle from a can of powder, with his teeth and burns the cords from his hands. He escapes and saves his sweetheart from death. There are intense moments of thrilling expectancy all thru it.

WILLIAMS AND ROSE

TOMORROW

"THE LURE OF THE VIOLIN"

All of us have wished that some of our dreams would come true. This evening the De Sota will present a picture in which they really do come true. Made by the Thanhouse company in California. High and Low is a Flying A featuring Warren Kerrigan and Jack Richardson. Tomorrow: The Lure of the Violin, which is one of the best of the season.

Joe Rushing, one of the most successful fruit raisers of Pontotoc county, was in town today. He gave it as his opinion that the Elberta peaches will not make over ten percent of a full crop. Some of the early peaches will do better, but it will be sometime before one can be certain how large a crop to expect. Plums are gone, but apples and grapes are apparently uninjured.

Talk about exciting situations, one must see The Winning Hand at the Majestic this evening to catch a glimpse of the real article. It is a western drama and as good as they make them. Among other things it pictures a young sheriff captured by outlaws making a most marvelous escape and at the same time saving the life of his sweetheart. Another good one will be A Nurse at Mulberry Bend.

The W. O. W. and Woodmen Circle held a joint meeting Monday evening and heard the reports of the delegates to the Hobart meeting. When that feature had been disposed of some of the Woodmen proposed that the Circle team put on its drill work. This was done in the usual splendid manner in which the Ada Circle handles this part of the work. Already they are talking of being represented at McAlester two years hence.

Charges Against Former Officials.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 31.—The cases of five former officials of the Brown-Ketcham Iron Works Company, indicted on charges of embezzlement and charges to embezzle, were called in court today for trial. The Brown-Ketcham company, one of the oldest concerns of its kind west of the Alleghenies, went into bankruptcy in 1911, following which the principal officials were indicted. The accused are William H. Brown, president of the company; John L. Ketcham, secretary-treasurer; William R. Brown, superintendent; Frank J. Vinson, auditor, and Harry B. Holliday, paymaster.

Stock of Ada

Trading Co. Sold

This afternoon the stock and assets of the Ada Trading Co. were sold at auction to S. M. Fields of St. Louis. The total amount realized was $9,076. The liabilities of the firm were about $21,000. After all expenses are paid the trustee will probably be able to pay something around 30 or 35c on the dollar.

Mr. Fields stated that the stock will remain here and the store opened again for business as soon as possible.

A Hard Creditor.

Louis Tiffany, at the Egyptian fete that he recently gave in his New York studio, was led by the magnificence of some of the Egyptian vestments of his guests to say:

"These beautiful robes make me think of an old fellow whom I once met on a cold day down South.

"The air was bleak, and it beat on the old fellow's flesh, through the many holes in his tattered garments. Yet despite his tatters, he had a whole side of bacon on his shoulder.

"Uncle," said I, "why didn't you spend your money on a warm coat instead of on all that bacon?"

"The old man answered gravely:

"Wall, sah, when I asks mah back for credit, I gits it."

"Then, patting and rubbing his stomach, he added:

"But dishyer, sah, dishyer always calls for cash."

Gen. Buckner 90 Years Old

Munfordville, Ky., April 1.—With a number of relatives and intimate friends and relatives as his guests, Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner today celebrated his ninetieth birthday anniversary at Glen Lily, his celebrated country home on Green River, about eight miles from this place. Gen. Buckner has the distinction of being the only remaining corps commander of the Confederate side. He graduated from West Point in 1844 and saw active service in the war with Mexico. In the early part of the civil war, after he had surrendered Forts Henry and Donelson to Gen. Grant, Gen. Buckner was taken prisoner and sent to Fort Warren. In 1862 he was exchanged and placed in command of a division in Hardee's corps, in Bragg's army. He was made a major general and distinguished himself at Murfreesboro and Chickamauga. In 1887 Gen. Buckner was elected governor of Kentucky and in 1896 he was candidate for vice president of the United States on the ticket headed by Gen. John M. Palmer of Illinois.

Agreement Reached In O. C. Tax Matter

County Treasurer R. H. Erwin and County Attorney R. C. Roland returned Monday evening from Oklahoma City where they held a conference with the officials of the O. C. in regard to a settlement of the taxes due in Pontotoc county. In view of the fact that Judge Campbell receded from his original opinion that the taxes should be paid in full, it was thought best to compromise. Dorsett Carter on behalf of the railroad offered $19,150 or practically 80 per cent. This was ten per cent better than any other county got, and the proposition was accepted, subject to approval of Judge Campbell and the commissioners of Pontotoc county. If it is approved the money is promised immediately, whereas, a fight in the courts would mean months if not years of delay.

Will Not Attend Reunion

Sherman, Tex., April 1.—At a meeting of Mildred Lee Camp, U. C. V., resolutions were passed to the effect that the rate asked by the railroads for those who desire to attend the Confederate reunion at Chattanooga, Tenn., is too high, therefore Mildred Lee Camp will not send delegates this year to the reunion. Heretofore the railroads have been making a rate of one cent per mile each way, but this year the rate has been placed at one and one-half cents.

Economical Ironing

To iron economically you must not waste heat.

Ironing with ordinary flat irons is very wasteful of heat; most of the heat goes up the kitchen chimney; a lot of it is wasted in charring the ironing pad and in scorching the clothes. Ironing with a is quite different—all the heat is in the iron ready to go into the pieces ironed instead of going into the room or up the kitchen chimney. None of it is wasted.

To use only the amount of heat actually needed for ironing, be it either heavy damp pieces or laces, embroidery or other light goods is real economy.

That's why Hot Point Irons are used in thousands of homes throughout our country.

We keep all styles and sizes—Let us send you one on trial.

LABOR LEADER

GIVEN SIX MONTHS

Paterson, N. J., March 31.—William D. Haywood, organizer for the Industrial Workers of the World, was sentenced to six months in the county jail this afternoon on conviction of disorderly conduct in connection with a gathering of strikers yesterday at Lafayette. He came here in connection with the silk mill workers' strike.

A second charge, that of causing unlawful assemblage, also was lodged against him. On this he was held for the Grand Jury, with the amount of his bail to be fixed later.

Haywood pleaded guilty to both charges. He was sent to the county jail to begin sentence, but an appeal probably will be taken.

Haywood was given the maximum sentence with which disorderly conduct is punishable. During his term of imprisonment he will have to work ten hours a day at hard labor.

One hundred policemen, armed with riot guns, stretched a cordon around police headquarters during the hearing. Fully 2,000 strikers and strike sympathizers gathered outside the building. So ugly appeared to be their mood that the police locked Haywood in a cell at police headquarters instead of taking him to the county jail, until the crowd dispersed.

Blood Bath Knocks Rheumatism

Remarkable Effects of a Remedy That Actually Irrigates the Entire Blood Supply.

It sounds queer to take a blood bath but that is precisely the effect of a most remarkable remedy known as S. S. S. It has the peculiar action of soaking through the intestines directly into the blood. In five minutes its influence is at work in every artery, vein and tiny capillary. Every membrane, every organ of the body, every emunctory becomes in effect a filter to strain the blood of impurities. The stimulating properties of S. S. S. compel the skin, liver, bowels, kidneys, bladder to all work to the one end of casting out every irritating, every pain-inflicting atom of poison; it dissolves by irrigation all accumulations in the joints, dissolves acid secretions, renders them neutral and scatters those peculiar formations in the nerve centers that cause such mystifying and often baffling rheumatic pains.

And best of all, this remarkable remedy is welcome to the weakest stomach, because it is a pure vegetable infusion, is taken naturally into your blood just as pure air is inhaled naturally into your lungs.

The great Swift Laboratory has spent millions of dollars in perfecting, producing and placing in the hands of the public this wonderful remedy. So give your blood a good bath with S. S. S., for it knocks the worst forms of rheumatism every time.

You can get it at any drug store at $1.00 a bottle. It is a standard remedy, recognized everywhere as the greatest blood specific ever discovered. If yours is a peculiar case and you desire expert advice, write to The Swift Specific Co., 127 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Begin Money Count

In Treasury

Washington, D. C., April 1.—John Burke, former governor of North Dakota, took the oath of office as Treasurer of the United States today and entered upon the duties of his office, succeeding Carmi A. Thompson of Ohio, who had succeeded United States Treasurer Lee McClung in December of 1912. As the law requires that the retiring Treasurer's record of the transfer of funds be verified by an actual count of the notes, coin and securities in the Treasury whenever there is a change of treasurers, the tremendous task of counting the hoard of approximately $1,500,000,000 contained in the vaults of the National Treasury was begun today. This gigantic task which, it is estimated, would take one person about 300 years, will be completed by a small army of trusted employees under the direction and supervision of the committee which Secretary McAdoo has appointed to that purpose, in from two to four months. The work is carried on during office hours only, beginning at 8:30 in the morning and closing at 4:30 in the afternoon.

All of the paper money is counted piece by piece, but the gold and silver coin, usually stored in canvas bags, is counted by weight, unless some error is detected which makes it necessary to open every one of the bags and to count its contents. A test bag, the contents of which have been counted and found correct, is placed upon the scales and balanced against the other bags for verification. Each bag is checked and rechecked before it is returned to the vaults and great precautions are taken to prevent theft. Armed guards stand over the counters and workmen to protect them from interference.

The handling of the heavy coin bags in removing them from the stacks, passing them from hand to hand to the weighing counters and back again to the vaults to be re-stacked is strenuous work requiring considerable physical strength. The counting of the paper money and securities, while not so strenuous, requires great skill and accuracy.

In the course of time there have been many counts of the funds in the United States Treasury, but nearly in every case the actual contents of the vaults corresponded exactly with the amounts listed in the books and accounts of the Treasury. In 1885, when the Administration passed into the hands of the Democratic party and a Democratic treasurer succeeded the former Republican incumbent, a deficit of 2 cents was found at the count, but the missing coppers were found behind one of the desks after a few days. A few years ago it was found at one of these counts that one $1000 bill was missing. The Treasurer made good the amount and was later on reimbursed by congress.

Upon another occasion, a few years ago, one of the colored men employed at the count to carry coin bags from the vault to the weighing counter and back, stole about 600 silver dollars from the bags, substituting for them lead pieces of the same weight as the silver dollars. He was detected, however, arrested and punished. The detection of the man's dishonesty made it necessary to open every single coin bag in the vaults and to verify their contents by actual count.

The committee entrusted with the task of the count consists of the chief of the public money division, the chief of the loans and currency division and personal representatives of the retiring and the incoming Treasurer. The vaults were turned over to the committee today carefully closed and sealed. The contents of the vaults will not be disturbed during the count except for the purpose of counting the funds. Only enough money to keep the wheels of the government running has been kept apart for use while the count is in progress, the vaults will be sealed at the close of every work day and will not be removed until the count is completed and the new Treasurer ready to hand his receipt to the predecessor in office. When Carmi Thompson succeeded Lee McClung as Treasurer he received more than $1,400,000,000. He must account for every cent of that amount, plus the millions he has since received, minus expenditures.

Bad breath, bitter taste, dizziness and a general "no account" feeling is a sure sign of a torpid liver. PEPPINE is the medicine needed. It makes the liver active, vitalizes the blood, regulates the bowels and restores a fine feeling of energy and cheerfulness. Price 50c. Sold by Ramsey Drug Co.

LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT

By JULIA LEITCH.

When young Winthrop met Elizabeth at the Griffith's dance he wondered if the sensation he experienced would not in prehistoric times have been called love at first sight. He danced with her as often as possible and with nobody else, and in between the dances he propped himself against the wall and watched her. When toward the end of the evening she mentioned that she was invited to the Porters' dance the next week he urged her to promise that she would dance every other dance with him.

"But I didn't say I was going," Elizabeth protested laughingly.

"But you will go, won't you? And whether you go or not, won't you promise to dance with me anyway?"

"Oh, I'll promise that," Elizabeth assured him, "but I'm not at all sure that I'll go."

"But if you do go—"

"If I go," promised Elizabeth, smiling.

To Winthrop's great disappointment Elizabeth did not go. He met her sister Dorothy, however, and from her he received the explanation that Elizabeth had decided that she couldn't come. Winthrop felt abused.

After several days he persuaded a mutual friend to take him to call on Elizabeth.

The day following his call, feeling that his acquaintance was sufficiently assured to warrant the proceeding, he telephoned her an invitation to go with him to the theater. She would "perfectly love to," she trilled over the telephone, and accordingly they went. The evening was one of such unalloyed enjoyment to Winthrop that he called the following week and ventured another invitation. He was surprised and somewhat disconcerted by the way she received it. She hesitated, said she would like to awfully, but really—here she glanced at her sister Dorothy, who was present—she was afraid she couldn't.

Temporarily disheartened, Winthrop restrained himself from calling for a week, at the end of which time he dropped in casually with a gift of violets, and finding Elizabeth exceedingly cordial, invited her to go to a concert. Her evident delight was as balm to Winthrop. Surely, he told himself, he had been unduly affected by her previous refusal.

The concert was a beautiful success to Winthrop at least, though it was little he heard of the music. Elizabeth evidently was enjoying herself immensely, yet when Winthrop ventured the suggestion that there was another concert the following week he was met with a dampening vagueness. Elizabeth knew she'd enjoy it, she was really crazy to go. Anyway, she'd let him know the next day.

The following morning there came what Winthrop considered a very chilly note. Elizabeth had decided after all that it wouldn't be possible for her to arrange to go.

Winthrop decided savagely that he would let her alone. The world was full of girls.

Nevertheless, a week or so later he found himself once more calling on Elizabeth. Her cordial greeting and un concealed pleasure in his company soothed and encouraged him. She certainly didn't seem like the girl who would blow hot one minute and cold the next. Why, then, he wondered, did she behave in such a strange way? He made up his mind to find out and presently his opportunity came. Elizabeth had just spoken of a play that she was anxious to see.

"Well," said Winthrop meaning, "you know you can go if you want to."

Elizabeth blushed. "How?" she asked.

"With me," said Winthrop, bodily. Elizabeth flinched with the sofa cushion. "Oh, I'd love to," she began, "and I will!"

"If what?" insisted Winthrop. Elizabeth sank back in her chair with a little sigh of disgust. "Oh, you obtuse man," she cried. "I suppose you're going to keep at me until I tell you."

"Yes," said Winthrop, firmly. "I am."

"Well, then," said Elizabeth, "I'll go if it happens to be my turn for the suit."

"Your what for the what?"

"By turn for the suit, Mr. Paul Pry," rejoined Elizabeth. "And if you must know all about it, I suppose I may as well tell you now. The whole painful truth is that dad was so hard up this winter he couldn't afford to get Dorothy and me each a good suit and a good party dress. As we can wear each other's things perfectly well, we got one nice suit and one silk slip and we drape the slip with different overdresses, and as we've always worn nearly the same kind of clothes, anyway, lots of people don't know the difference."

She paused and looked into Winthrop's astonished face for an instant. Then she laughed. "Isn't it funny?" she asked.

"It's—it's—tragic," said Winthrop. "But the world's full of clothes and I've always intended to furnish Mrs. Winthrop with a complete set of 'em. Wouldn't you—couldn't you—won't you see if they'll fit you?"—Chicago Daily News.

CHATANOOGA PREPARING FOR THE VETERANS

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 1.—Amid the great activity of preparation for the Confederate Reunion in this city May 27-29 inclusive, of course the greatest task is establishment of Camp Stewart, named for the famous Confederate general, which is to be the home of the veterans while here. Located in one of the city's largest parks and on land next to it, the camp, for which 1,400 large tents—each with room for eight or more cots—and 12,000 cots have been obtained, will be quite a town in itself. Arrangements for the veterans stay are being put on the basis of comfort, pleasure, and health in every possible way. The camp is located on land which has belonged to the government for many years and right next to the beautiful National cemetery with its rolling lawns, beautiful trees and fine monuments. A large part of the tract to be occupied by the camp is also well wooded and will be cool.

With two or three committees of experienced, energetic citizens working out various details, the intention and effort is to make Camp Stewart the best camp ever furnished by any city for the Confederate reunion.

The tents will be along regularly laid out streets, which will have names on guide posts and each tent will be numbered, so as to be easily found. Every veteran will be furnished a badge showing, besides his name and regiment, the camp street and street number where he should be.

The mess tent will be 160x120 feet in size, the largest the committee could possibly secure, although they would have liked a larger one. The kitchen and pantry building, about 20-100 feet in size, will adjoin the mess tent. This will include a cold storage plant and steam heating plant, as the larger items of cooking will be done in water heated by live steam.

The mess tent will accommodate about 2,200 people at one time, having over 2,000 lineal feet of tables.

Throughout the park will be about eighteen public comfort stations and ten wash houses. There is much underground work necessary in preparation for proper sanitation and carrying of water. About two miles of water pipes must be laid. Some seventy-five water barrels will be scattered through the camp and iced frequently.

To illustrate how much help will be necessary during the reunion, each comfort station must have an attendant on hand constantly, and several men will be required to look out for the water barrels, in order that there be plenty of cool water at all times.

It is estimated that seventy-five men working two weeks can put up the tents.

The camp will be brilliantly lighted with arc lamps in the streets and incandescent bulbs in the tents. Some three miles of wiring and installation of 5,000 lamps will be necessary.

In addition to the general mess tent there will be two coffee and sandwich stands, one at the north end of Jackson park, the other in Troop B park. These will be open day and night, except during the hours that meals are being served in the mess tent, so that veterans can get refreshments at any time.
